FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Destin, Fl. (October 15, 2009) – The fourth season of symphony redefined opens with two great ticket incentives, a feature of American composer Samuel Barber and an all-star cast of guest artists performing with the orchestra in the acoustically superb setting at Grace Lutheran Church on November 15 at 3pm.

Recent Metropolitan Opera Competition winner Katherine Jolly, opens the performance with Samuel Barber's treasure "Knoxville: Summer of 1915." According to the New York Times, "Katherine Jolly used her agile, bright lyric soprano to superb effect..."

Sinfonia, partnered with the University of Arkansas on Hurlburt Field, is proud to offer active duty military and their families $10 single tickets to Sinfonia concerts during the 2009-2010 season. The popular Students 4 FREE program is also back; where two complimentary student tickets for each adult ticket purchased are offered. Both offers exclude March's gala event featuring Pink Martini. "We are so fortunate to have the support of Hurlburt's University of Arkansas campus to partner with Sinfonia to offer our local military families the opportunity to experience live music. In keeping with our educational mission, the Students 4 FREE program offers K-12 students an opportunity to experience live symphonic music and guest artists from around the world," stated Music Director Demetrius Fuller.

Tickets must be purchased by calling the Sinfonia box office at 850-269-7129. Tickets may be purchased at any time and the quantity is unlimited. ID may be required when picking up tickets.
